

We have some intriguing adventures on offer this year.

www.silkroad.co.nz Some have been on our 'must do' list for a while and we are repeating a number of our SRA Classic Adventures. In addition to our schedule of small group departures we have selected eight active adventures for travellers who are interested in trekking and touring at some extraordinary places.

Raiders on the Silk Road

Central Asia is rife with stories seemingly plucked straight from the pages of an early 20th century children's story book. Larger than life characters with improbable names and dubious intentions clutter the recent historical record of this far flung and sometimes perilous region.

Burma rediscovered

Happily for travellers the air seems to be clearing around the matter of tourism in Burma (Myanmar) since the National League for Democracy (NLD) has revised its longstanding tourism boycott to encourage independent travel (rather than mass tourism which may be seen to benefit the Junta).

Out of Africa

In October last year we spent a few weeks in Morocco looking at options for an SRA small group trip in 2013.

In a similar vein a contact in Southern Africa has enticed us with some wonderful holiday options in and around the southern part of the continent.

The long way round

In June we are off to Moscow by the 'long way round'. If you ever had a hankering to see Russia's remote eastern regions from a comfortable rail carriage, to ride the rails along one of the world's greatest uninterrupted ribbons of steel or gaze on the great Mongolian steppe the opportunity is just a phone call away. Call us to book a place on our inaugural SRA Trans-Siberian Rail Journey.

Responsible Travel

People who travel regularly and widely know full well that there are few places on the planet that are beyond the reach of a determined traveller. 'Access' is the 2012 travel imperative and few nations, states or destinations consciously want to languish on the 'truly inaccessible' list. If Pyongyang can get onto the accessible list then Kabul should be a shoe in.
